

Lumber Handler

This job is an entry level position at our company. It consists of stacking boards in the correct pack in an organized way. Starting wage is $9.00 per hour. We work 45-50 hours a week and after 90 days you get a raise and you receive company paid health benefits. If you're here for 6 months you'll receive 2 sick days and we can get you started with your 401k plan. If you show up every day, do what is asked, and I feel you're capable of handling more responsibility, I won't hesitate moving you to an area that has more responsibility. The more you know what to do around here, the more money you make.
